Dear Hiring Manager,

Canon has spent 85+ years helping people capture and share their world — which makes it, at heart, a storytelling company, and storytelling is the craft behind great PR and social. The CME PR & Social Media Specialist role caught my attention because it pairs the two disciplines I work in every day: publishing brand communications that reach the public, press and partners, and owning a social media strategy end-to-end, from content calendar to KPI. Building campaigns inside a culture of Kyosei — 'living and working together for the common good' — is exactly the kind of team I want to contribute to.

As Brand & Marketing Manager at DoFreeze I create and execute the social media strategy across Instagram, TikTok, Facebook and Pinterest — driving campaign development, content planning, content calendars and performance tracking against KPIs — while briefing creative and media agencies and safeguarding governance and consistency across every channel. I also develop and publish organizational and brand communications for the public, customers, trade partners and media across 50+ markets, and I run the local approval process for launch content and editorial materials with stakeholders across product categories, ensuring accuracy and timely delivery. Building the influencer and creator programme from zero to 25–50 creators per campaign taught me how to turn earned social reach and UGC into measurable brand awareness.

Two things set me apart. First, I have already built a generative-AI content system (Claude / GPT) that scales content creation, campaign planning and KPI reporting — precisely how a lean communications team produces more, faster, without losing the brand voice. Second, I am already in Dubai on a UAE residence visa, bilingual Spanish/English (C1) and comfortable in the hybrid, cross-functional cadence this role runs on. I'll be candid that my PR experience is brand and organizational communications rather than a traditional press desk, and my background is FMCG, beauty and e-commerce rather than imaging — what I bring is genuine end-to-end social-media ownership, strong campaign and stakeholder-management discipline, and a fast learning curve.

I would be excited to bring this blend of social-media ownership, brand communications and AI-enabled content to Canon's Middle East team. I am available to start immediately and would welcome the chance to discuss how I would approach the content calendar, agency briefs and PR campaign measurement. Thank you for your consideration — I look forward to hearing from you.

Best regards,

Paula De Francisco Pérez
