Dear Hiring Manager,

Unilever's belief that doing business the right way drives superior performance — carried by brands people genuinely love, from Dove and Rexona to your oral-care portfolio — is exactly the kind of personal-care business I want to help grow on the modern-trade shelf. The Key Account Executive – Personal Care role caught my attention because it asks for what I do every week: build store-specific category plans, keep planograms and shelf share honest, design retailer promo plans with a clear ROI lens, and turn sell-out and market-share data into corrective on-shelf action.

Modern-trade category and key account work is the spine of my career. Today, as Brand & Marketing Manager at DoFreeze, I own modern-trade execution across UAE accounts — store-specific assortment, planogram compliance, POSM and merchandising, retailer-specific promo mechanics, pricing compliance and OSA — while tracking spend vs. trade budgets and managing NPI listings and product master data with head office. Before Dubai, I owned 42 key accounts at Alibaba's Miravia and grew GMV +30% QoQ, ahead of category, through assortment optimisation, pricing strategy and targeted promotions. And my category grounding at Mondelez — sell-in/sell-out, Nielsen deep dives and promo-effectiveness analysis — means EPOS and sell-out data are already how I build account recommendations.

Two things set me apart. First, I am already in Dubai on a UAE residence visa and operating inside UAE modern trade and quick-commerce (Noon, Talabat, Careem, Deliveroo) — a real omnichannel account view from day one, with no relocation timeline. Second, I lead with category- and shopper-led value, not just price. I'll be candid that my category depth has been in beauty/fragrances and food rather than personal care specifically, and that my UAE modern-trade tenure is via DoFreeze rather than a named grocery banner — but I already speak the language of JBP, planograms, promo ROI and EPOS-led corrective action, and I ramp fast on a new category.

I would be excited to bring this blend of key account ownership, trade-marketing execution and data-led decision making to Unilever's personal-care business in the UAE. I am available to start immediately and would welcome the chance to discuss how I would approach store-specific category plans, promo ROI and shelf execution across Skin Cleansing, Deos and Oral Care. Thank you for your consideration — I look forward to hearing from you.

Best regards,

Paula De Francisco Pérez
