Dear Hiring Manager,

PMI's smoke-free transformation is one of the boldest brand journeys in consumer goods, and it runs on people who can take brand strategy and actually ship it — cleanly, on-brand, across every channel. That's the work I do. I'm a brand and marketing professional based in Dubai who executes and deploys campaigns end-to-end across CRM, website, social and offline, and I'd bring an FMCG-trained, detail-obsessed, ownership-led approach to the Brand Marketing team.

The day-to-day maps directly onto what I already do at DoFreeze. I translate brand strategy into creative briefs and execution plans; deploy campaigns across CRM/email, Shopify website, social and modern-trade/POS channels; brief and coordinate external creatives and agencies, managing timelines and reviewing outputs before launch; and support the development and localisation of brand assets (digital and print) across 50+ markets, keeping multi-channel toolkits organised. I run launches as projects — juggling multiple timelines, budgets and pipelines under pressure — and I own quality control, running pre-launch QA and brand-compliance checks so nothing ships off-brand. My Mondelez grounding gives me the multinational-FMCG fundamentals, and my paid-media, CRM and AI-first toolkit (a Claude/GPT system that speeds up briefs, content and reporting) helps me move fast without dropping quality.

Beyond the checklist, what I bring is genuine multi-market brand execution — I keep dozens of markets consistent and on-brand at once — plus hands-on digital, CRM and paid media that go past the 'nice to have', and a rare AI-first way of working that cuts the manual overhead in briefs, content and reporting. I'm highly organized, detail-oriented and quality-driven, with the ownership to run several campaigns in parallel and still sweat the details.

I'd be genuinely excited to help the Brand Marketing team execute PMI's brand initiatives to a high standard, and I can walk through campaign, content and launch case studies from my current work. I'm already based in Dubai and ready to start fast. Thank you for your consideration — I look forward to hearing from you.

Best regards,

Paula De Francisco Pérez
