Dear Hiring Manager,

I'm reaching out regarding potential Brand/Marketing opportunities at Gloria Jeans as you establish your Dubai headquarters and expand across the Middle East. Having followed Gloria Jeans' strategic move to Dubai and your recent talent acquisition from premium fashion retailers, I'm excited about the brand's vision to bring Russian fashion excellence to new markets. As an Inditex-trained professional now based in Dubai, I believe my fashion retail background and regional expertise could support your ambitious expansion plans.

My career began at Inditex (Massimo Dutti), where I developed foundational expertise in fashion retail operations, visual merchandising standards, and premium brand positioning. This foundation has proven invaluable throughout my 4+ years managing brand strategy across fashion and lifestyle sectors. At Alibaba's Miravia, I delivered +30% GMV growth QoQ while managing 42 key fashion accounts, and at DoFreeze, I've successfully launched 6 NPD campaigns end-to-end across 50+ countries including GCC and MENA markets. My hands-on experience spans the complete fashion retail ecosystem from product development to market execution.

What sets me apart is my unique combination of Inditex retail discipline and deep UAE market knowledge. I'm already based in Dubai with residence visa, eliminating relocation complexities, and have extensive experience integrating brands into local quick-commerce platforms (Noon, Talabat, Careem, Deliveroo) that are crucial for fashion retail success in the region. My bilingual Spanish-English capabilities and proven track record scaling influencer programmes from zero to 25-50 creators per campaign would be particularly valuable as Gloria Jeans builds its Middle East presence and connects with diverse regional audiences.

I'd welcome the opportunity to discuss how my Inditex training and regional expertise could contribute to Gloria Jeans' Middle East expansion strategy. I'm immediately available and would be delighted to explore how we might work together to establish Gloria Jeans as a leading fashion destination in Dubai and beyond. Thank you for considering my background, and I look forward to hearing from you.

Best regards,

Paula De Francisco Pérez
