Dear Hiring Manager,

I would like to apply for the Event Manager role in your Brand Marketing team in Dubai. I am Brand & Marketing Manager at DoFreeze, a UAE food group, and before that I spent two years on beauty, fragrances and fashion at Alibaba's Miravia. Events that bring a fashion and e-commerce brand into the real world across the GCC are where I want to focus next.

In Dubai I turn brand moments into activations people can take part in. I plan our seasonal campaigns around Ramadan, Back to School and Fitness Month, with product samplings and an in-app giveaway run in partnership with talabat, and community events with running, padel and yoga clubs. I work across concept, budget, timeline and suppliers, and I manage four agencies: I negotiated a 30% saving and they delivered 103 creator activations against 75 contracted. I lead a designer and a social media executive, so creative, social and creators move as one plan. After each campaign I report on what it achieved. Our SMASH x talabat campaign lifted daily sales by 165% while a control brand grew 4.7%. My fashion grounding comes from Miravia, Glovo's retail vertical and my start on the shop floor at Massimo Dutti.

To be transparent: my experience is in brand activations and partnership events rather than five years as a dedicated event manager, and I have not yet produced a fashion show or a pop-up store. I also do not speak Mandarin. What I would bring is the discipline I already use: a clear run-of-show and budget for each event, contingency plans agreed with vendors before the day, and a post-event report that ties footfall, content and sales back to the brief.

I would welcome the chance to discuss how I could help deliver your events across the GCC. Thank you for your consideration.

Best regards,

Paula De Francisco Pérez
