Dear Hiring Manager,

I am writing to apply for the Brand Partnership Manager role leading your flagship French Avenue X Aromatix collaboration. A co-branded, influencer-led fragrance line is exactly the intersection I have spent my career operating in — owning brand and commercial outcomes while acting as the single point of contact between a company and a creator's team — and Fragrance World's push into influencer collaborations is precisely the kind of high-ownership challenge I want to take on.

In my current role at DoFreeze (Dubai) I built and scaled an influencer and co-branding programme from zero, managing 25–50 creators per campaign and leading six NPD launches end-to-end — brief, packaging, pricing and go-to-market — while owning A&P budgets, sales forecasting and inventory/listing planning. Before that, at Miravia (Alibaba Group) I managed 42 key accounts across Beauty, Fragrances and Fashion, delivering +30% GMV growth QoQ and, as PIC Fragrances, onboarding the official distributors of leading Arabian and oud houses (Arabian Oud, Lattafa, Swiss Arabian, Ajmal). That combination — fragrance commercial depth plus hands-on partnership and NPD ownership — maps directly to what this role requires.

I bring the commercial rigour the role demands: P&L exposure (reporting to the CEO on the Flash Sales channel at Miravia), forecasting, inventory planning and disciplined monthly reporting, backed by advanced Excel and SAP (ERP). While I have not formally run royalty calculations, my fluency with P&L and monthly commercial reporting means I can own royalty reporting confidently from day one. I also plan and execute brand activations, sampling events and pop-up mechanics, and work cross-functionally with Sales, Production and Finance every week. Finally, I am already based in Dubai on a residence visa — no sponsorship, no relocation timeline.

I would welcome the chance to discuss how I can protect and grow the French Avenue X Aromatix brand across every touchpoint. I am available for interview at your convenience and can start promptly. Thank you for your time and consideration.

Best regards,

Paula De Francisco Pérez
