Dear Hiring Manager,

The Digital Marketing Manager (B2B) brief — a hands-on operator who can own the full marketing funnel, scale demand generation across paid, organic, outbound and brand, and connect every campaign to measurable pipeline and revenue — describes how I already work. I run multi-channel growth marketing end-to-end today, I'm analytical and execution-focused in equal measure, and I'm fully set up to work remotely with a distributed, US-based team.

As Brand & Marketing Manager at DoFreeze I own the funnel from awareness through conversion: I plan and optimise campaigns across paid media (Google Ads, Meta Ads), SEO/organic, email/EDM, social, content and partnerships; manage budgets to maximise ROI and ROAS; and track CAC, cost per lead, conversion, traffic and revenue in dashboards and clear performance reports, refining targeting and spend through continuous A/B testing. I also improve landing pages and store UX for conversion (CRO), lead brand positioning and messaging, and guide content, design and creator teams plus external contractors — so strategy and day-to-day execution sit in the same pair of hands.

I'll be straightforward about where I'm coming from: my sector background is B2C — e-commerce, FMCG, beauty and fashion — rather than B2B SaaS, so I wouldn't overclaim an ABM or MQL-to-SQL playbook I haven't owned. What does transfer cleanly is the craft (paid, SEO, content, funnel ownership, analytics and reporting) and genuine B2B commercial experience: as a Key Account / Account Manager at Alibaba's Miravia and Glovo I partnered directly with sales, managed 42 accounts and distributor relationships, and aligned marketing with revenue — growing GMV +30% QoQ and onboarding 30+ new stores in two months. I work in Salesforce and am quick to pick up HubSpot, and I bring generative-AI automation (Claude/GPT) that lets a lean team test, produce and report at real speed.

I'd welcome the chance to walk through how I'd approach the first 90 days — auditing the funnel, prioritising the paid, SEO and content bets with the best ROI, and standing up the dashboards and experimentation cadence to prove pipeline impact quickly. I have excellent English (C1) and I'm set up for focused remote work. Thank you for considering my application — I'd be glad to share specifics on how I'd scale this client's demand generation.

Best regards,

Paula De Francisco Pérez
