Dear Hiring Team,

Huda Beauty has always felt different — a Dubai-born brand that Huda Kattan built in 2013 into one of the world's fastest-growing beauty powerhouses by leading with purpose over profit and an unwavering belief in kindness. Bringing that same instinct to fragrance — where a scent has to carry a story people fall in love with — is exactly the challenge I want. As a Brand & Marketing Manager based here in Dubai, building 360° launches across beauty and FMCG, the Senior Global Brand Marketing Manager – Fragrance role reads like the brief I have been working toward.

Taking products from concept to market is what I do day to day. At DoFreeze I lead 360° launch campaigns end-to-end across 50+ markets — owning NPD for six launches from concept positioning and creative brief through global go-to-market, defining the messaging hierarchy and key selling points, and building the launch toolkit (campaign messaging, retailer and e-commerce assets, paid media, education and sampling). I built our influencer programme from zero to 25–50 creators per campaign, with influencer guidelines, product seeding and sampling that turn a launch into social-first storytelling and measurable sell-out — the experiential, PR and creator muscle this role runs on.

My grounding in fragrance and prestige beauty comes from Alibaba's Miravia, where I owned the Beauty & Fragrances category across 42 accounts and grew GMV +30% QoQ, and — as PIC Fragrances — onboarded the official distributors of leading Arabian and oud houses (Arabian Oud, Lattafa, Swiss Arabian, Ajmal), building real fluency in the premium fragrance landscape and how these consumers buy. I'll be candid that this depth has been on the commercial and e-commerce side of fragrance rather than leading prestige-fragrance brand launches, and my brand-side launch record is in beauty and FMCG — but the 360° craft, the olfactive-to-narrative storytelling and the cross-functional project management transfer directly, and I ramp fast. I'm AI-first in how I plan campaigns and content, and already based in Dubai on a UAE residence visa, so there's no relocation timeline. I was excited enough by the brand to build a 360° launch concept for a Huda Beauty hero product — I'd love to share it.

I would love to bring this blend of 360° launch execution, fragrance-category fluency and creator-led storytelling to Huda Beauty's fragrance ambitions. I'm in Dubai, available to start quickly, and would welcome the chance to talk through how I'd take a fragrance from concept to a launch people remember. Thank you for reading — I hope we get to speak.

Best regards,

Paula De Francisco Pérez
