

90-Day Trade & Shopper Plan — Henkel GCC

How I would land the first 90 days against Perfect Store and the trade activation calendar.

Prepared by Paula De Francisco Pérez · 19 June 2026 · For: Trade & Shopper Marketing Manager - GCC at Henkel

1. Weeks 1–2 — Channel & shopper audit

Finding: A new trade & shopper manager inherits live customer plans, a Perfect Store standard and an activation calendar already in motion across GCC modern and traditional trade.

Insight: The fastest way to add value is to map where current execution diverges from the Perfect Store picture-of-success by channel and key account, rather than rewriting strategy on day one.

Recommendation: Run a structured audit with the KAM and Sales teams — Perfect Store compliance by channel, top-account gaps, promo ROI history — and turn it into a one-page diagnostic. This mirrors how I open new markets at DoFreeze before committing A&P.

2. Month 1 — Quick wins on promo ROI and shopper activation

Finding: Trade budgets often carry under-performing mechanics that persist because they are calendar habits, not ROI decisions.

Insight: Reallocating spend from low-ROI mechanics to a few high-converting shopper activations usually lifts efficiency without extra budget.

Recommendation: Pick 2–3 key accounts, re-cut their promo calendar by ROI, and pilot one upgraded shopper activation per channel — measured on sell-out. At Miravia I grew 42 accounts +30% GMV QoQ doing exactly this pricing/assortment/promo discipline.

3. Months 2–3 — NPD go-to-market & trade calendar for the year

Finding: NPD launches and the annual trade activation calendar are where trade & shopper marketing either accelerates the brand or leaves money on the shelf.

Insight: Launches that bundle listing, Perfect Store execution and a shopper mechanic out of the gate outperform staggered ones.

Recommendation: Build the annual trade activation calendar around the NPD pipeline, with a go-to-market checklist per launch (listing → planogram → shopper mechanic → measurement). I lead NPD end-to-end for six launches at DoFreeze across GCC and MENA.

This is a first-pass plan from the outside — with Henkel's account and Nielsen data I would sharpen the priorities quickly. It reflects how I actually operate: audit first, win on ROI, then build the calendar around NPD.